Will Be the Fate of Klondike Fortune Hunters.

Dawson City Crowded and a Shortage of Provisions Makes Famine Inevitable —The Latest News.

EUREKA, Cala., Sept. 8.—The news by the steamer National City from St. Michaels corroborates all that has been said of the prospects of short rations in the gold diggings of the upper river during the winter. The steamer, which connected with the river steamer, J. J. Healy, at the mouth of the river, brought three passengers. One of these is J. A. Ralston, of 214 McCallister street, San Francisco. He says there is gold and lots of it in the Klondike, but it is generally still in the ground. It is believed the claims now located could turn out fifty tons this winter if the scarcity of food did not prevent full operations. He gives a rough guess that the Klondike is good for $250,000,000 before petering out.

Six thousand men in the mines about Dawson City is the estimate of Ralston, who came down on the National City with F. E. Leonard of Nanaimo, and R. B. Lamb, of Portland, Oregon. The supply of the necessaries of life to feed these men, he says, is totally insufficient. In fact, he estimates that the stores will be exhausted before the winter is half over when the famine will be on in earnest and especially as the number of men in the country will be greatly augmented by the latter arrivals over the passes. There is whisky, beer and all kinds of liquor in profusion he says but their places could have been better filled on the steamers with flour.

It is not that the men in the country have not money to buy supplies but that the stocks of the stores are inadequate.

Ralston says one of the best claims on Eldorado Creek is the property of James Hallack, of Missouri. It will turn out at least $1,000,000. Claim No. 12, on Eldorado Creek, is also very rich. It is no uncommon thing to take out two ounces to the pan from any part of the claim.

F. Lamb, of Portland, is authority for the statement that over fifty men have already died of scurvy this summer. In regard to discoveries on Stewart river Ralston, says there were many rumors of rich strikes, but up to the time he left Dawson nothing definite had been received. The National City was eleven days from St. Michaels, Alaska, where she left 150 gold seekers. It is very doubtful whether any of the passengers who went up on the National City will get through this year. The small boat which some of the passengers had taken up on the deck of the steamer has proved a disappointment. Her machinery has gone wrong and she draws too much water.

There is enough provisions in the party, however, to winter it out and proceed up the river when spring opens. The Cleveland was expected to sail on the day after the National City departed. The Excelsior left St. Michaels twelve hours before the National City. Captain Anderson reports that on August 29 he passed the steamer Humboldt, but did not speak to her, and that she in all probabilities arrived at St. Michaels the following day.

VICTORIA, B. C., Sept. 8.—The steamer Bristol returned this morning. She started a week ago for St. Michaels with 200 miners who were to have been taken up the river by the steamer Eugene. The Eugene sprung a leak and could not proceed on her voyage, and the trip had to be abandoned.

HAPPILY MARRIED.

Rev. Harry Mount, Son of the Governor, Weds Miss Bell.

CRAWFORDSVILLE, Ind., Sept. 8.—The marriage of the Rev. Harry Newland Mount, of Oxford, the only son of Governor Mount, to Miss Vera D. Bell, of Crawfordsville, took place at noon yesterday in the First Presbyterian church. The auditorium had been artistically and elaborately decorated for the occasion with palms, vines and cut flowers. Over 500 guests witnessed the celebration of the nuptials.

The marriage of Mr. Mount and Miss Bell is the result of a college courtship. Several years ago, when Mr. Mount entered Wabash college, he carried with him from the Shannondale church a letter of membership to the First Presbyterian church of Crawfordsville and at once became an active worker.

He took charge of a young ladies' Bible class, and he had not long served in the capacity of teacher before he realized that he worshipped two divinities, the second being one of his Bible class pupils, the pretty and devout Miss Bell. He was her devoted admirer all during his course at Wabash college, but it was not until he was a student at Union seminary, two years ago, that they became engaged. The bride has been prominently identified with the work of the First Presbyterian church for several years and is well known in Y. P. S. C. E. circles in Indiana.

German Officer Murdered.

BERLIN, Sept. 8.—Referring to the news received on Monday last from Sydney, N. S. W., that the governor of German New Guinea had been killed by natives on August 21, it is officially announced that the German officer killed was Captain Von Hagen, the deputy governor of German New Guinea, who was shot and killed on August 14 last.

YELLOW FEVER.

The Situation Much More Hopeful Today.

Three New Cases Reported at Biloxi—Dr. Guiteras, the Fever Expert, Arrives at Ocean Springs.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—Surgeon General Wyman says the yellow fever situation looks decidedly more hopeful today. No new cases have been officially reported to him, although there are newspaper reports of three new cases at Biloxi. He has wired Dr. J. J. Lemon, at Biloxi, concerning this report.

Dr. Guiteras, the yellow fever expert from the University of Pennsylvania, reported his arrival at Ocean Springs this morning. He will investigate the cases and nature of the outbreak. The surgeon general has formally tendered the aid of the marine hospital service to the state and health authorities of Louisiana and Mississippi, and Dr. Oliphant, president of the Louisiana board of health, has been requested to telegraph daily the fever situation in New Orleans. He telegraphed this morning the fact of the death at New Orleans yesterday and added that there had been no new case since.

NO CASES IN CRESCENT CITY.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Sept. 8.—The Louisiana board of health is today in full control of the situation. Although perfect arrangements have been made for the prompt report of either yellow fever or suspicious cases up to 10 o'clock today there had not been a single case reported to the board and the authorities frankly declare that any more sickness of virulent type will be impossible. In spite of New Orleans' clean bill of health, however, towns in Louisiana and Mississippi continue to declare quarantine. There is infinitely more scare away from here than there is in this city where confidence has entirely returned. It is confidently believed, however, that immunity from yellow jack for eight or ten days will bring Mobile and the Mississippi and Louisiana towns to their senses and move them to tear down their barriers.

WESTMINSTER.

Fort Wayne Ought to be Proud of Her Seminary.

New School Year Opens Wednesday, September 22—Several Changes in the Faculty.

Among its other institutions of learning, the citizens of Fort Wayne ought to be proud of their seminary, which has quietly obtained so enviable a reputation throughout the state and adjoining states. Its pleasant grounds, home-like interior, convenient class rooms, superior corps of instructors and select patronage should commend it to all parents seeking the most favorable conditions for their daughters' education, and desiring for them clean associations. Its small classes, individual attention and freedom from distressing nerve-tension make its work peculiarly valuable to girls of delicate organism.

The coming year opens Wednesday, September 22. Some changes in the faculty are made necessary by various causes. Miss Swope, whose work was so excellent last year, returns and continues the work in French, German and Latin. Miss Swope has been studying this summer at Cornell university and writes that she has gained much that is valuable to give to her classes. Miss Cox resumes the work in history, literature and English, her instruction last year being entirely satisfactory. Miss Philley continues in charge of the department of physical culture and reading, introducing some new features. Miss Youmans will conduct the classes in science. Miss Youmans is a graduate of Mt. Holyoke college and has been teaching during the last four years in the high school at Danville, Illinois, which position she resigns to accept this work. Miss Bayless, who has conducted the preparatory department a number of years so successfully, has been granted a year's leave of absence to go to California. Her school will be continued under competent instruction and the personal supervision of the principals, affording an opportunity for instruction to younger children with clean associations, thorough work and rapid advancement.

Miss Stubbs, formerly connected with the seminary, returns to the art department. Miss Stubbs has been studying the last year, and in addition to her work in oils, water colors, china, crayon and tapestry, will introduce a new and charming work, miniature painting on ivory, in which her work has been greatly admired in Cincinnati.

With such a faculty, under the supervision of the well known principals, the work at the seminary this year should be especially strong. It affords to parents an opportunity to prepare their daughters for college at much less expense than in sending them away, and quite as successfully, and also affords a full seminary course for those who do not enter higher colleges. Our citizens should appreciate and foster such an institution by a liberal patronage.

GEN. LEE RETURNS.

United States Consul at Havana Now in New York.

He Comments on the Cisneros Case and Says the Conditions in Cuba Are Very Bad.

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—Consul General Fitzhugh Lee, accompanied by his son, Fitzhugh Lee, jr., arrived from Havana on board the Seguranca today. The general said that he had been suffering billiousness for some time past, but he felt very much better after the sea trip.

When ask as to whether he would return to Cuba or not, the general shook his head and said: "I cannot answer that, and I would rather not talk of Cuban affairs until I make my report in Washington." In speaking of the case of Evangelina Cosio Cisneros, the general said: "The young woman is now confined in Casa Recobidas. She has never been tried, and I do not think that it was ever intended that she should be banished. The stories of her ill treatment are very much exaggerated, and were it not for the hubbub which has been raised about her, the girl would probably have been released long ago. In fact I was given to understand that her name was on the pardon list. She has comfortable quarters and is treated as well as possible under the conditions. There is a good deal of suffering in Cuba, but the Americans, number about 1,400, are being cared for from the fund of $50,000 which was appropriated for that purpose. They receive relief daily, and up to the present time about $15,000 has been expended."

"Is there any sign of business improving or a change for the better in Cuba?" asked the reporter.

"No, I am sorry to say there is not," replied the general, "and there will not be any improvement until the war is ended."

"When will that be, general?"

To this last question General Lee replied in Spanish, a free translation of which is: "That is too much for me, I cannot say."

General Lee and young Fitzhugh Lee jr., will go to West Point today to see his other son, George M., who is at the military academy there, and tomorrow they will leave for Washington.

Among the other passengers on board were Robert L. Oliver, United States consul at Merida, Mexico, and George W. Fishback, of this city, who was said to have been sent to Havana on business for the United States government. Mr. Fishback said that his trip to Havana was purely on private business. Mr. Fishback said that there was a great deal of suffering all over Cuba, and that the condition of the people was even worse than when he was there last as secretary to Commissioner Calhoun, when the latter was investigating the Ruiz case. He saw Miss Cisneros at the Casa Recobidas, and he said the reports regarding her treatment were greatly exaggerated, and that the young woman was fairly well treated and did not complain when he was speaking to her.

STARS AND STRIPES.

Float Over the Fastest Ocean Liner Afloat.

The American Steamship St. Louis Beats All Records for Trans-Atlantic Boats —Is American Built.

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—A cablegram received from Southampton today announces that the American line steamer St. Louis, docked at Southampton at 5:30 this morning and that the time of her passage from Sandy Hook lightship to the Needles was six days, ten hours and fourteen minutes. This beats the record held by the Hamburg liner Fuerst Bismarck, since September, 1893, by forty-one minutes. The St. Louis and the St. Paul now hold the best Southampton records, the former having the eastward record and the latter the westward by making the passage in six days and thirty-one minutes in August, 1896. This is a triumph for American ship builders, for not only do the St. Louis and St. Paul float the stars and stripes but they were both launched from an American ship yard.

SIX DEAD.

Terrible Explosion of Nitro-Glycerine at Cygnet, Ohio.

CYGNET, Ohio, Sept. 8.—A terrible explosion of nitro-glycerine occurred here yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock, which resulted in the death of at least six persons.

The killed:

Sam Barber.
Charles Bartel.
Allen Faltz.
A boy named Havens.
Henry Lansdale.
John Thompson.

The explosion occurred at the Grant well, located at the rear of the National Supply company's office building in the village limits. This well had just been shot by Samuel Barber, the shooter for the Ohio and Indiana Torpedo company.

The well was a gasser and when the 120 quarts of glycerine let down into the well exploded the gas ignited, and with a terrific roar the flames shot high above the derrick.

Rev. M. S. Beal, editor of the Gazette, occupied the pulpit of the Presbyterian church at Wabash last Sunday, at the request of the regular pastor, the Rev. Dr. Charles Little, who was invited to preach Indianapolis. The Wabash papers comment highly upon his sermon, the subject of which was "The Man Jacob."

PERRY HANGED.

The Doomed Man Walks Firmly to the Scaffold.

He Gave Up His Life in Atonement for Slaying Body Lanier, His Wife's Boarder.

ATLANTA, Ga., Sept. 8.—H. S. Perry was hanged for the murder of Body Lanier at Decatur today. The execution took place on a gallows in the yard of the DeKalb county jail. The doomed man was pale but cool and collected to the last. On the scaffold he declared his innocence of the crime of murder and reiterated his statement that he killed Lanier to protect the sanctity of his home. The drop fell at 11:40 a. m.

DREW A KNIFE.

Bertram Howard, of Monroeville, in Jail.

He Threatened Louise Draper's Life—A Family Jar at Woodburn—News of the Courts.

Today Marshal Doren, of Monroeville, brought to Fort Wayne and lodged in jail Bertram Howard, who during the progress of a quarrel with Louise Draper drew a knife and threatened the woman with injury.

CAREY ROBINSON IN JAIL.

Sheriff Melching returned last evening from Wabash with Carey Robinson, the Pleasant township farmer who has been under indictment for forgery for more than two years. Sheriff Melching had a tip that Robinson might be found at either Wabash or Lafayette, and at Wabash he came unexpectedly face to face with the man who has so long eluded capture. He submitted quietly to arrest and came without trouble to Fort Wayne. The alleged forged notes aggregate nearly $6,000. The complainants, who accuse Robinson of getting money by forged notes, are F. C. Parham, F. M. Smith, Mrs. Flinn, of this city; James Weaver, Sheldon; Dr. Sledd, Nine Mile; Dan Edwards, A. D. Hill, John Faltz, Gustave Winters, Fred Keller, George Minow, Christ Youse, and several others.

Sheriff Melching will receive $300 reward offered for the arrest of Robinson. The forger will be arraigned in a few days.

WANTS A DIVORCE.

Today Attorney Sylvester, of Woodburn, filed in the circuit court a complaint for divorce for Ella Baker, who alleges that her husband, Cain Baker, has deserted her, treated her cruelly, inhumanly and that he is a habitual drunkard. The parties live in Maumee township.

IN THE CIRCUIT COURT.

Circuit will be of quiet interest until the grand jury has reported.

The case of the state in relation to Esther E. Byers against George Rasmer in paternity proceedings has been certified from Justice Huser's court to the circuit court.

SUPERIOR COURT.

In the superior court Fanny J. and Wallace E. Doud have commenced suit against C. E. Everett, et al., for partition of real estate.

COMMISSIONERS COURT.

The directors of the Maumee gravel road notified the commissioners yesterday afternoon that they would not accept the offer of $4,000 for the pike. The board will leave the offer open for some days and if not accepted the negotiations will be closed.

The commissioners were engaged with bills today.

JUSTICES' COURTS.

William Riggen entered a plea of guilty to malicious trespass and Justice Bullerman fined him $11. Riggen wrecked a telephone and tore down a screen door at the office of the city trucking company.

Robert Dietrich was arrested on complaint of George Wessenberger and fined $11 by Justice Bullerman for assault and battery. The men live in Aboite township and the affair was a neighborly quarrel.

Good and the Worst.

So apportion your wants that your means may exceed them. With £100 a year I may need no man's help. I may at least have "my crust of bread and liberty." But with £5,000 a year I may dread a ring at my bell. I may have my tyrannical master in servants whose wages I cannot pay. My exile may be at the fiat of the first long suffering man who enters a judgment against me. For the flesh that lies nearest my heart some Shylock may be dusting his scales and whetting his knife. Every man is needy who spends more than he has. No man is needy who spends less. I may so ill manage that with £5,000 a year I purchase the worst evils of poverty—terror and shame. I may so well manage my money that with £100 a year I purchase the best blessings of wealth, safety and respect.—Bulwer.

A curious fact not commonly known about the gait of red deer in England has recently been published in a book on "Hunting," by Lord Ebrington. It appears that a stag crosses his legs right and left in walking, while with a female deer except under particular circumstances, the prints of the hind foot will be found in a direct line with those of the fore foot.

HOOSIER BRIGANDS.

Lawlessness Rampant in Lawrence and Jay Counties.

Daylight Robberies Are the Vogue and Law Has No Terrors for the Incendiaries.

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 8.—Brigandage prevails in a portion of Spice Valley township, Lawrence county, and Judge Martin, of the circuit court, has called upon the grand jury for a rigid investigation and an unsparing enforcement of the law. Robberies are reported to be frequently committed in daylight, the victims fearing to prosecute because their property will be laid low with the torch. Cattle are slaughtered openly in the fields and the carcasses carted away for food or the market, and it is alleged that incendiarism is so rife that insurance companies will no longer carry risks in that section.

The community is terrorized, and so far the authorities have not interfered with adequate protection. A lawless state of affairs is also reported in the northern part of Jay county, in another part of the state. Highway robberies and burglaries are frequent, while petty thieving is so common as to be a constant menace to property.

The thieves are supposed to have a rendezvous in Loblolly swamp, venturing out only after nightfall. Postmaster Crum, at Kit, was plundered by masked men and John Lacoman's store at Balbec is constantly guarded to prevent a general looting. In both Lawrence and Jay counties public indignation is fast reaching a dangerous pitch.

NORTHERN INDIANA NOTES.

The reunion of the 74th Indiana regiment will be held October 14th and 15th at Goshen.

Oscar Herdner, aged sixteen, had an arm crushed yesterday in a stave factory at Columbia City.

It is now a custom enforced in Wells county to boil the slate pencils used in public schools in order to destroy bacteria.

Mrs. W. H. Eggleston has received her commission as truant officer for Warsaw, the appointment having been made several days ago.

Lydia Dougherty, the Wells county girl who was shot by her brother-in-law, Berkley Walker, is still alive but in a critical condition. Surgeons have been unable to find the bullet.

The announcement has been made that W. W. Timmonds, editor of the Portland Sun, and ex-postmaster of that city, will be married today at 4 p. m., to Miss Celia Stirer, of Bellefontaine.

The marshes and timber land along the Wabash railroad in Jackson and on the Baltimore and Ohio railroad in Liberty township, Porter county, are on fire. Several thousand dollars' worth of damage has been done already.

Solomon Heniser, a prominent farmer of Mollie Station, Blackford county, attempted to kill his wife by beating her to death with a chain halter, but the interference of members of his family prevented. Heniser was in the insane hospital seven years ago, and was released on a furlough.

At South Bend, Andrew Charey and several friends were driving Monday evening when the horse frightened and ran away. A shot gun was lying in the bottom of the rig and was jarred in such a manner as to cause explosion. Charey was shot in the calf of the leg by the charge and seriously injured.

The well aired divorce suit of Mrs. Hattie Nethercutt against her husband, Rev. Milo Nethercutt, late of Markle, was called in the Huntington circuit court yesterday by Judge Watkins. The defendant made no appearance. Mrs. Nethercutt was on the witness stand and told her story of the hardships of her married life, and of the actions of her husband.

Henry Hjalm, a wealthy farmer living near Chesterton, made an attempt Monday night to kill his wife. He knocked her down with a club and pounded her until she was insensible, and, securing a revolver, shot at her several times, but failed to hit her. He then shot himself fatally. Hjalm is the third member of his family who has gone insane and committed suicide by shooting himself. His wife will recover. He was about sixty years old.

The will of George Harwood, a wealthy pioneer of Lagrange county, has been admitted to probate, and a number of its provisions are unique. He had always had an aversion to women, and a man named Frane assisted him in the household duties. The will bequeaths to Frane the use of sixty acres, in consideration of which Frane is to care for a steer and horse which Harwood owned and cared for. He desires that when they die they shall be buried and a monument erected at the head of the graves. His last wish before passing away was that he be placed in an ordinary coffin, the funeral services omitted and the remains hauled to the grave in a lumber wagon.

HAMILTON MUST GO.

A Postoffice Inspector Will Settle the Warren Affair.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 8.—A postoffice inspector has been sent to Warren, Ind., with instructions to turn the postoffice there over to Mr. Elliott, the newly appointed postmaster. Postmaster Hamilton, who was removed, wired the department for reasons as to his removal, and refused to turn the office over to the appointee. The reply of the department was the sending of the inspector. Inasmuch as the office is now presidential, the president can remove when he pleases without giving reasons. An official of the department stated this morning that if it were necessary to assign reasons, it would be sufficient to say that the place was wanted for a republican.

IN EARNEST.

Are the Authorities on the Tag Question.

Police Department Instructed to Warn All Delinquent Bicycle Riders and Dog Owners to Procure Tags.

The enforcement of the tag ordinance relating to vehicles and dogs promises to become more rigid than at any time since the law went into effect. Heretofore the special policemen, two in number, have been trying to enforce the law, but have been unable to reach one-fifth of the violators, hence the matter was brought to the notice of the board of safety by Comptroller Berghoff, with the request that the regular police force be instructed to give the matter attention. This morning each policeman received explicit instructions to detain every bicycle rider whose wheel has no tag, and secure the name and address of such person, at the same time warning the individual to procure a tag without delay, or run the risk of being arrested. The second time a person is caught without having complied with the law he will be taken to the police station. This order comes direct and it means business. The enforcement of the tag ordinance will no longer be a farce.

The new order issued applies to vehicles and dogs as well as bicycles.

Warsaw Times: "Capt. James B. White, of Fort Wayne, who was a member of the Thirtieth Indiana infantry, of which the late Dr. F. M. Dearman was the assistant surgeon, came out from that place Monday to attend the funeral of his soldier friend. The captain is looking first rate and we were pleased to see him, even though the occasion calling him here was a sad one. Captain White has many friends in Warsaw, and he himself has a warm side for the place in which he resided for the four years just preceding the war."

Smith by virtue of his membership in the state legislature, received a letter from the board of trustees of the Vincennes university giving him the privilege of recommending some person upon whom the university will confer a free cadet scholarship. WANT THE TRUTH.

Does Typhoid Fever Exist to An Alarming Extent?

Health Board Thinks Not, But is Making a Careful Canvass—Meeting Called for This Afternoon.

In order to get the absolute truth in a matter all important to the community, the health board this morning sent out Sanitary Policemen Heck, Drew and Brecking to call upon every physician in Fort Wayne and ascertain what cases of typhoid fever are now existing in Fort Wayne. It has been the opinion of the board that the city has not been as free of this disease for years as the present year. Reports, supposed to be without foundation, have been circulated to the effect that typhoid is alarmingly prevalent. The only certain way of getting the exact status of the situation is in a canvass by the method employed by the health board today.

One of the sanitary policemen was seen by a SENTINEL reporter about noon. He said: "I have called on twenty-four physicians so far and have not found a single case of typhoid." The officers have instructions to report at 3 o'clock, when the board of health will meet them.

At 3 o'clock reports had been received from sixty physicians. Five cases were found, two of which were hospital patients, who had been sent here from other places.

MUNICIPAL MATTERS.

Board of Safety Makes Appointments—Board of Works Meeting.

Late yesterday afternoon the board of safety appointed George B. Porsch an engineer at the Broadway engine house, to succeed Edward Keech. Mr. Porsch is a member of the Machinists' union and of the Trades and Labor council. The resignation of Charles Boland, hoseman at the Ninth ward engine house, was requested, and Peter Lauer was appointed to the place.

The board of public works yesterday afternoon approved the sidewalk bonds of A. Kruck, G. Henkenius and A. Gerberding; also a sewer bond for T. A'Hearn.

The council committee on rules, regulations and ordinances will hold a meeting Friday night to talk over a number of ordinances that will come up for passage at the next council meeting Tuesday evening. There will be an amendment to the vehicle ordinance and a new ordinance regulating circus processions.

L. B. ROOT'S FUNERAL.

A Terre Haute Newspaper's Report of the Obsequies.

The Terre Haute Gazette says: "Ex-Mayor Frank C. Danaldson and Proprietor Charles Baur, of the Terre Haute House, returned early this morning from Fort Wayne, where they attended the funeral yesterday of L. B. Root. Mr. Danaldson said this afternoon that it seemed that all Fort Wayne had all turned out to do honor to the memory of Mr. Root. The funeral was one of the largest ever seen in that city. There were no church services. The Episcopal service was read at the house by the Episcopal minister of the parish, and a male choir sang beautifully, 'Nearer My God to Thee' and 'Lead Kindly Light.' On all sides were heard expressions of the deepest sorrow at the death of Mr. Root. Mr. Danaldson said the Fort Wayne cemetery was one of the most naturally beautiful cemeteries he had ever seen.

"Messrs. Mills, Griffith and Miller, of Root & Co.'s store, of Terre Haute, also attended the funeral."

The real interest centers not so much in the fact that Paderewski has cut his hair as in the question whether he will cut the price of his concerts.

Some months earlier than usual the political caldron has begun to simmer in Fort Wayne. Already two republican candidates for mayor have been formally announced in the persons of ex-Mayor C. B. Oakley and William Geake.

To contemplate the proposed spectacle of the greatest city of the union, the centre of wealth and the radiating point of new world culture having a mayor named Croker, and an ex-prize fighter and race track gambler at that, is enough to make the gorge rise.

Col. R. W. Thompson, "Uncle Dick," of Terre Haute, contemplates writing a school history, using monosyllables only. This causes the Goshen News to recall that "several years ago the late Hon. A. P. Edgerton, then president of the Fort Wayne city school board, delivered an address to the graduating class that did not contain one word of more than one syllable, and yet the diction was elegant, the address most forcible and contained many splendid thoughts forcibly expressed."

Pension examiners in the field have been reinstructed to give out no information to the press in regard to their work, leaving this duty to the central office. An order of this purport has long been in existence but some officials have recently neglected to observe it.

"The United States may be great," says a Toronto paper, "but its treatment of Canada proves the greatness to be of the sort which incloses a very small soul." It has long been apparent that Canada will never be satisfied with the United States until she has been properly annexed.

Among the improvements for Swinney park for next year the board of public works should not overlook a bridge across the St. Mary's river that will permit the residents of Nebraska to reach their nearest breathing spot without traveling a couple of miles. Even a ferry boat would answer if nothing better can be afforded.

Consul Monaghan at Chemnitz has informed the state department that Germany is steadily increasing her trade with Mexico and that for 1896, it amounted to more than in 1895, when it was 16,000,000 marks. The goods Germany sends to Mexico are textiles, ironwares, china, glassware and machinery. The consul says that now the silver crisis has been bridged over successfully all kinds of enterprises are being started in the republic, including mining, railroads, breweries, sugar refineries, etc.

The defalcation of C. M. Charnley, fugitive treasurer of the Presbyterian board of aid for colleges, again illustrates a lesson that too often has been enforced. Gambling speculation in its best form—if it has one form better than another—is bad. It is led on by the desire to get rich without labor, its success rests on the failure of others; it intoxicates its devotee, plunges him into excitement and excess, stifles honor and conscience and, if he have access to funds not his own, misfortune makes him a malefactor. So it was with Charnley. A life that for most of its years was full of usefulness and without blame, is wrecked, family is disgraced and distracted, friends shocked and the world's confidence in men is to that extent diminished.

The coal operators and the representatives of the striking miners meet today in Columbus to discuss the terms proposed by the operators for settlement of the great struggle which has been in progress for many weeks. There is among the miners in many of the eastern districts a sentiment so strong as to be serious that no basis of settlement be accepted that does not provide for the 69 cent scale originally demanded. The operators have proposed a 65 cent rate and this may be the basis of a compromise. This even is an improvement and if no higher can be secured the miners would better accept it than continue the strike. It is a concession itself and other terms proposed in the agreement submitted by the operators make it reasonably certain that many of the greater hardships and abuses complained of by the miners will be abolished. Winter is near at hand and if the miners reject a settlement and the strike is prolonged into cold weather it is impossible to see how the strikers can survive the rigors of a season that under the most favorable auspices they may enjoy is none too easy to get through.

If Fort Wayne had been playing the kind of ball all during the last half of the season that they have put up since they struck Toledo this week a pennant pole at the park would be in order. Yesterday the Indians played an exhibition game with the Mud Hens and James J. Corbett was on first base for Toledo as the drawing card. He played well and did good work with the stick. Patterson pitched for Fort Wayne and his twirling was thoroughly effective, the Mud Hens being unable to cross the rubber during the first eight innings. In the ninth hits were bunched on Patterson for two earned runs. Fort Wayne's one run was made in the sixth by O'Meara on Meyer's failure to hold Kelly's assist at the plate.

CORBETT HERE TOMORROW.

Tomorrow afternoon the Fort Waynes and Toledos will play at Lakeside park and James J. Corbett will officiate on the initial bag for Fort Wayne. He has been playing good ball in his exhibitions in the Inter-State and a large crowd will no doubt be out to see him. In addition to this it may be seen to rest that Toledo and Fort Wayne are now playing the fastest ball that has been seen in the Inter-State this season. Usual prices will prevail tomorrow.

NOTES.

Fort Wayne's pitchers seem to come around in top notch form.

Fort Wayne's Inter-State team will play an exhibition game at Decatur Friday.

The two games played at Toledo Monday count in the championship, though it has been reported that the morning game was an exhibition contest.

The Fort Wayne Juniors hereby challenge any team of ball players ranging from ten to fourteen years. Saturday or Sunday preferred. Address, C. Ford, 228 East Wayne street, city.

Mr. Allmittichs has at last broken into the game. It is reported that Chris Von der Ahe has found a second baseman named Whangdoghue, and will soon bring him forth to over awe all comers with his name.

Jesse Hoffmeister, the Inter-State league third baseman, who cut such a swath at Pittsburg, has been benched. He had developed a habit of tackling grounders with one hand and was not batting any to speak of.

INTEREST UNABATED.

Instructive Talks at the Allen County Teachers' Institute—Program Tomorrow.

Mrs. Ford and Dr. Dennis, whose talks proved so valuable in suggestions the past two days, continued to hold the audience closely interested at the Allen county institute today. After Rev. L. L. Hoover had opened the session with devotional exercises this morning Mrs. Ford took up the subject of "Clothing Industry of the World," a theme of wide scope and which she treated in a plain and scholarly manner. She gave a good idea of the industry of this country as compared with that of others.

Dr. Dennis was heard again on his subject, the "Science of Teaching in the Grades." He grows more interesting every time he talks.

The program tomorrow will be as follows:

MORNING.

9:00—Devotion, Rev. J. S. Ainslie.

9:15—Music, Professor Miles.

9:30—"Science in the Grades," Dr. Dennis.

Jumped Into a Fiery Bed.

One of the most horrible methods of self murder ever recorded was employed by William Morris, a peddler, at Williamsport, Pa. Morris went home about 2 o'clock one morning after an absence of more than a week. After a word he began quarreling with his wife and, getting out of bed, picked up a lighted lamp and threw it at her, exclaiming that he would either kill her or himself. The lamp set fire to the bed and Morris threw himself upon it. His wife, who had leaped from the bed in the nick of time, was unable to get him out, and before assistance arrived he was burned to death.

THE COLONEL'S ROMANCE.

It Started In All Right but Fell Flat at the End.

They sat in their usual places around the grocery stove and smoked pipes and cigars of peace. The Colonel had just returned from a visit to his old home in Ohio and was telling the boys about it.

"It's a curious feeling," he said, "to go back to the old home after an absence of twenty years. Things have changed completely. It is like raising ghosts to be among people you have not seen for so long. The impression made upon me is one that will never be obliterated. A strange thing, too, happened while I was there."

The others filled their pipes afresh and settled themselves to listen, for they liked to hear the Colonel talk.

"When I got to the old town," he went on, "I gazed about me in the deepest wonder. The streets seemed narrower, the houses smaller and meaner, and every prospect seemed to have shrunken and lost its old familiar aspect. I met men in the street by whose side I had grown up from boyhood, and they passed me with either a curious stare or a careless glance.

"But the worst was to come. There was a girl once upon a time in the old town whom I loved better than anything before or since. One day I slipped away from everybody and went down into a little grove where I used to meet her. I asked no one about her, whether she was alive, dead or married. Somehow I felt that I could not. I knew that fate had arranged our lives and that there could never be any closer relations between us.

"I went down the very path we used to tread. The oaks along the lane had not changed. The little blue flowers on each side might have been the same ones I used to pick and place in her hair. Our favorite walk had been along a line of thick laurels, beyond which ran a little stream. As I walked there those old happy days came back to me again. There was little change in the old lane to oppress my heart. It seemed to me that if I waited a little longer she must surely come down the path again, tripping so lightly through the grass, with those starry eyes and nut brown hair. And then, she loved me, too. It seemed then that nothing could have parted us—no doubt, misunderstanding or falsehood. But who can tell?

"I went to the end of the path. There at one side still stood the old hollow stump where we used to place our love letters. What sweet words that old stump had known, if it could only tell! I thought that during my knocking about the world my heart had grown callous, but when I saw the place that once was so sweet and dear to me my heart grew very sad, and a flood of tender memories came upon me.

"I looked down into the hollow stump and saw a little speck of something white. Curious to know what it was, I fished it out with a stick, and saw a folded sheet of paper, stained and yellow with age and exposure to the elements. I opened it carefully and read with difficulty:

"'Dearest Richard.

"'You silly old boy. Of course I will marry you. Come around early tonight. ALICE.'

"Gentlemen, I stood there holding that little piece of paper in my hand like one in a dream. I had written her a note asking her to be my wife, and telling her to leave her answer in the old tree. She had done so, and it must have slipped down into the trunk, and I never got it, and all these years had rolled away since she placed it there."

The crowd was silent. The Major wiped his eyes, the Squire sniffed a little and the grocer, who was a tender-hearted man, turned away and pretended to be arranging something on his shelves. They were strong men, but they had all known what love is.

"And when you didn't get her note," said the Squire, "you left home and never saw her again?"

"No," said the Colonel, "I was around at her house anyhow that night and got her answer all right. Two months later we were married. She and the kids are down at the house now. Pass the tobacco, please."

"You are the doggonedest man I ever saw," said the grocer, indignantly.

The Queen Could Slap.

One of the incidents, says an English review, which conduced to give the Queen temporary popularity in Ireland was this. She and the Prince, with the Prince of Wales and Prince Alfred, were driving in their roomy carriage to Mr. Dargan's exhibition. The streets and windows were thronged. There were only bright faces, and the air was filled with cheers. She bowed very affably; the Prince held his hat a little before his forehead and hardly bowed. The Prince of Wales took off a cap with a white band and held it rather gracefully, as if to show that he should have bowed were the Queen not present. Prince Alfred looked a little sulky and kept his hat on his head. The Queen did not appear to see him, but she did. She whipped the cap off his head with one hand and with the other gave him a slap in the face. It was done in an instant and without any change of countenance. Thundering cheers marked the approval of the multitude.

A HOBO'S RICH STRIKE.

He Marries a Pretty Widow with Lots of "Boodle."

A short time ago, says a Brainerd (Minn.) dispatch, Alfred Maxwell was a penniless, seedy looking tramp, without prospects, without a friend, and without a place to lay his head. Today he is a well-dressed, handsome man with a good home, a prosperous business, and, best of all, a loving wife. This sudden and remarkable transformation was brought about by the marriage of Maxwell to Mrs. Catherine Berg, one of the richest women in Crow Wing County. Mrs. Berg was a pretty, buxom widow of 35 and is well known throughout this section as the owner of the Berg dairy farm. Four years ago her husband died, and the farm, with its well-kept buildings, its cows, horses and chickens, passed into her ownership. With the assistance of a hired man and a hired girl Mrs. Berg conducted the farm with great success.

Mrs. Berg first met her second husband on the evening before their marriage. An hour or two after milking time she and her hired girl were sitting at the kitchen table when there was a loud knock on the door. It was a tramp, and he wanted something to eat. By the order of Mrs. Berg he was brought into the kitchen, and while devouring the cold lunch was subjected to a catechism of questions concerning his past life. At the conclusion of the repast the tramp requested permission to sleep in the barn that night, and greatly to his surprise received permission to sleep in the house with the hired man. Sitting at the kitchen table for several hours, the tramp amused the three other occupants with stories and songs, and told of his own experience as a knight of the ties without attempting to conceal the fact that he was nothing but a penniless tramp, and had been for several years. Mrs. Berg suddenly asked him:

"Are you married?"

He replied that he had been married years ago, but lost his wife and baby, and since then had never considered himself worthy of a second wife. She asked him if he would marry if he got a chance, and he replied that he would if he thought he could get a woman able to make a man of him.

"Would you like to marry me?" she rapidly asked the buxom widow.

He took the question as a joke, but quickly replied that he would marry her to-morrow morning if he could raise money enough to pay the minister. But the pretty widow was not joking; she wanted a husband whom she thought she could get along with, and so informed the secondhand tramp. The ceremony was performed by the nearest minister the next day, and the following morning Alfred Maxwell, the ex-tramp, cleanly shaved and neatly attired, assumed control of the farm and bank account.

Know Him by His Nose.

Do not marry a man whose nose shows any natural deformity or twisting; there will invariably be some corresponding flaw in his moral nature.

Do not marry a man whose nose comes out of the big forehead in almost a straight line, the type of nose often seen in statues following Greek models. Such a nose is invariably accompanied by extreme willfulness, selfishness and sometimes cruelty. Nero had such a nose, and so did Mary Queen of Scots.

Do not marry a man with a sharp pointed nose; he will have a sharp, uncomfortable character. He will be hard to please; there will be acidity in his nature.

If a man tells you he is an artist or writer and has a nose that is not refined at the tip do not believe him. There is great value in the aesthetic finish of the tip of the nose in men of these two classes.

If you want a husband who will make his way in the world and grasp the gain power of money, take one whose nose is broad ridged and prominent and bears a moderate hump in its upper half. If he is a wide-headed man as well he will insure you your wish. And he will be a large fellow physically as well.

If you want a husband who will be always hopeful and buoyant, take one with a tip-tilted nose, but not too short, for if it be that you will find him over impulsive.

And once more I say, do not marry a man with a long drooping nose. Besides being gloomy and secretive, he will probably be critical and faultfinding.

If you want a husband in whose heart you will hold undisputed sway do not marry a man with these three signs, fatal to faithfulness: A narrow eye, almond-shaped, or with straight edge under lid, an upper lip full at the center and red and moist; a palm which shows on the mount of Venus (the full, fleshy part under the thumb) many well-cut lines crossing at right angles.

Uncle Sam Plants Less Corn.

Uncle Sam is planting less corn than he used to do, according to the report of the statistician of the Department of Agriculture, just issued. This report states that the acreage of corn in the United States this year is 1.2 per cent. less than in 1896. This represents a decrease of about 1,000,000 acres. Illinois, Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska, Texas and one or two less important corn producing States show an increased acreage, but this is more than offset by the shrinkage in Iowa, Indiana, Ohio, Kentucky, Tennessee and other States.

To Grocers.

We have direct proof that peddlers of washing-powders say that the stuff they're selling is "made in the same factory" as Pearline—and that buying from them will save going to, or ordering from, the grocery store. Do you want people "saved" that. You have these same washing powders in stock. Possibly you are giving them out, whenever you can, in place of Pearline. You are trying to push them into notice; they are trying to crowd you out. You think you are "making more money on them." But will it pay you, in the end?

Send it Back Peddlers and some unscrupulous grocers will tell you "this is as good as" or "the same as Pearline." IT'S FALSE—Pearline is never peddled, and if your grocer sends you something in place of Pearline, be honest—send it back. JAMES PYLE, New York.

COLONEL THOMPSON.

The Genial Ticket Agent Injured at Toledo.

Has an Ankle Sprained Presumably by Stepping From a Street Car—Other News.

Meagre reports concerning a mishap which befel Colonel R. G. Thompson, the hustling district passenger agent of the Wabash, were in circulation in Fort Wayne last night and this morning, creating considerable anxiety among that gentleman's friends. The first reports were to the effect that Mr. Thompson was the victim of a street car accident in Toledo last night and that one of his feet was so badly crushed that the attending surgeon feared it would have to be amputated. This news traveled fast and Agent R. F. Douglass was soon busily engaged in answering telephonic inquiries as to the truth of the rumor. Telegrams were also sent to Toledo to P. E. Dombaugh, the company's ticket agent at that point, but that gentleman was at Mr. Thompson's side at the hospital and it was nearly noon before he answered any of the messages. Then he replied, stating that Mr. Thompson had sprained his left ankle very badly, but failed to state how the injury was received. Another telegram states that Mr. Thompson will probably come home in two or three days and this message conveys the inference that his injuries are not so serious as feared. No railway man in Fort Wayne is held in higher esteem by the citizens than Colonel Thompson and the news of his misfortune will call forth the sympathy of every person.

SHORT OF CARS.

An Associated Press dispatch from Philadelphia, received at this office at noon today, says that "on account of the immense shipments of grain from the west the Pennsylvania and Baltimore and Ohio railroad companies are experiencing considerable trouble in furnishing enough freight cars to meet the demand. All cars that can be spared are forwarded to such western points as the business requires."

A FARMER'S NARROW ESCAPE.

Abraham M. Miller, a farmer living near Huron, Ohio, was picked up and tossed into a cornfield yesterday morning by the engine hauling Pennsylvania train No. 30. Miller was considerably bruised about the head and body, but none of the wounds were of a serious character and he was able to walk home. The wagon in which he was seated when he collided with the train was smashed into smithereens and portions of it were still in the pilot bars when the train pulled into this city. Miller was thrown fully thirty feet and the enginemen expected to find him dead when they stopped the train to pick him up.

AN AERONAUT'S ESCAPE.

The passengers on eastbound Wabash train No. 4 were rudely shaken up Monday afternoon by the application of the emergency brake and the quick stopping of the cars a short distance east of Peru. The halt was occasioned by a balloonist and his air ship, which settled upon the tracks in front of the moving train. By the prompt action of the engineer the life of the daring aeronaut was saved.

THE OLDEST CONDUCTOR KILLED.

Conductor R. R. Ackert, who has been in the employ of the Wabash continuously since August 10, 1858, fell from his train about four miles from Belknap, Iowa, Monday night, while the train was running at a high rate of speed and sustained injuries from which he died at the hospital at Moberly, Mo., at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. He was the oldest conductor on the Wabash.

AN OLD PROJECT REVIVED.

Bourbon, Ind., Sept. 7, '97.

Editor Sentinel.

All the country is being netted with electric railroads, so why not now reorganize the old railroad that a few years ago was surveyed from Fort Wayne to Chicago?

That line could be made one of the best lines of the state and the people all along the proposed road are enthusiastic for its immediate construction.

The times are ripe for electric railroad building; no trouble will be found in securing the building of the line, if an effort is at once made to put the enterprise under way. Shall we have the road?

It only wants a little effort at this time to put this great work under way and the cost will be but about one fourth of the expense of an old line steam road.

The commercial value of an electric road are incalculable, as the cars are so light and so easily started and stopped, so it is practicable to stop at almost any point of the road or even at almost any farm gate to pick up or drop off passengers.

The state laws are now so liberal that almost any public road can be used for an electric road, so the right of way will be merely nominal and grading and bridge building as nothing compared with steam lines. No steam locomotives being used, teams are not frightened as on steam railroads. Shall we move in this work.

A GOOD APPOINTMENT.

Elsewhere in today's SENTINEL will be found the announcement of the appointment of George H. Porsch as engineer at the Broadway fire engine house. Mr. Porsch is an expert in this trade, being considered one of the finest machinists in the city, is a sober, industrious citizen and will fill his new office with distinction. THE PROPOSED CHANGES IN PITTSBURG SHOPS.

The change in the Pittsburg shops will be merely a re-arrangement, including one or two additions on the north side and the building of a new electric plant and offices. The capacity of the shop will not be enlarged or decreased and the operating force will be the same as at present. This is the latest unofficial report.

The Grand Rapids and Indiana company announces two $1 excursions into this city the latter part of the present month. One starting from Richmond will be run on the 22nd and one from the north will occur on the 25th.

The second vice presidency of the New York, New Haven and Hartford, it is said, has been offered to W. F. Merrill, now general manager of the Erie. Mr. Merrill was formerly an official on the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy.

Harry Hayes, the machinist who has been in the New England states for the past year setting up Bass engines, returned home last evening. He will now take a short vacation, which he will spend with his father at Richmond, Ind.

J. D. Harris, foreman of the electrical department of the Pittsburg shops, has returned here and resumed charge of affairs. Agent R. J. Hamilton, of the Nickel Plate, states that the sales of tickets at his office for the month of August were greater than for any similar period in the history of the road. In October, 1893, when the world's fair traffic was at its height, the sale of tickets was great, but the month just passed showed earnings in that line which exceed those of four years ago by $1,100.

Gilbert E. Brooks, a locomotive foreman on the Pittsburg, has resigned to take a position on the Illinois Central road, with headquarters at Clinton, Ill. Mr. Brooks is considered one of the most competent and faithful firemen and the Pennsylvania officials and employes regret the circumstances which necessitate his resignation and removal from this city. Mrs. Brooks is in poor health and cannot live here and it is on that account that her husband resigned his position. They will leave in a few days for their new home.

Harvey Stahl, of the Pittsburg machine shop, will soon be a rival of his brother, "Chick" Stahl, for base ball honors if he continues to play as he did at Plymouth last Monday. On that occasion Harvey went to bat five times and made five hits. Of the six runs scored by the Pennsylvania team Mr. Stahl made four of them. This is a record few ball players can equal.

It is intimated that the indifference the Pennsylvania company is showing toward the action of the Monon on the mileage ticket is but a lull before a storm, and that the Panhandle trains from Louisville and from Cincinnati will shortly be run into Chicago over the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne and Chicago line, passing through Englewood and other Chicago suburbs that have been of advantage to the Monon, and that the Pennsylvania will shorten its line to such an extent as to attract attention.

Warsaw Times: "Arthur Ervin, who is on the road for the Bowser Manufacturing company, of Fort Wayne, left overland for Laporte county this morning. He takes orders for oil tanks, step ladders, and general supplies of that character, the factory being an extensive one, containing many kinds of manufactured goods. It seems true that Mr. Ervin would be a successful man on the road, and we know him to be industrious and square. An Ervin could not be anything else, as they have been raised that way."

The monthly statement of the Railroad Gazette of the accidents occurring on the railroads of this country shows that in July there were 146 accidents, in which twenty-five persons were killed and 118 injured on passenger trains. Not a passenger was killed during the month, but there were fifty injured. During the month sixteen employes were killed and fifty six injured. In July, 1896, the Gazette says, seventy five passengers were killed, and a long continued clear record of Julys will be needed to obliterate the disgrace of July, 1897.

The erecting and repair shops of the Baltimore and Ohio at Mount Clare, in Baltimore, which are the oldest shops in the United States, have been completely modernized. The locomotive erecting shop has been rebuilt and is supplied with two fifty ton electric cranes, which lift the heaviest locomotives and move them to any point as though they weighed but a ton. The compressed air appliances are of the latest pattern, and the cost of making the machinery will be saved in two years, as the new machinery accelerates the work, at a less expense than in times gone by.

Chief Engineer Brown, of the Pennsylvania, has been in consultation with the officers of the company since his return from the west, and owing to the immense amount of mail he has to look over, it will be several days before he will take up the subject of new work. Some time ago plans were prepared for a number of small roads or branches in the bituminous coal regions, and it is thought that these will receive the first attention. Nothing will be done however, until the work which is now under way is practically completed. Last week the inspection of the work was made by some of the high officials of the company, and they were very much gratified with the progress that has been made.

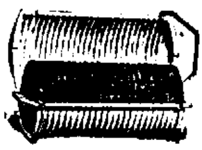
The Quaker Crimped Crust Bread Pan!

How was it that so simple a thing as the Quaker Pan was so long being thought of?



Everybody likes Crimped Crust Bread! They like the outside—the crust is even, daintily brown, delightfully crisp; they like the inside—mealy, moist, with every virtue of the grain held fast. It is the most economical bread; the flour goes farther, the oven will do more, there can be nothing burnt, nothing wasted.

Clover and horseshoe stick pins are said to bring good luck to the wearer. Acorn and pearl drop pins are new and pretty.

There are but three statues erected to women in the United States, one in New Orleans to a philanthropic woman, another in Troy to Emma Willard of educational fame, while in Hartford there will be shortly erected one to Harriet Beecher Stowe.

Puvis de Chavannes, the French painter, who is over 70 years of age, is to marry soon the Princess Cantacuzene, who has been a close friend of his for many years, and nursed him during his recent illness. She was the model for his picture, "Le Veuve," exhibited at the 1878 exhibition. The artist has given up the studio in the Place Pigalle, which he had occupied for nearly fifty years, and taken an apartment in the Avenue de Villiers.

A London firm which rents wedding gowns to brides also furnishes a "father" to give the bride away when the marriage takes place too far away from home to admit of parents and relatives being present. This professional father, as he might be appropriately called, is an ex major in the army and a member of a fine old family. But he is poor, and willingly gives away a bride for a small money consideration. He is said to look like a model father, with snowy hair and a kind and lovable expression. Sometimes he is called upon to manage a wedding breakfast, and he is said to be a charming speaker. Surely this is one of the oddest professions of advanced days.

NO CHICKEN POT PIE

Does Gus Eix Eat This Day, 'Cause He's in Jail.

He Stole Miss Tait's Chickens—Robert Van Court Will Have to Answer to the Charge of Larceny.

Gus Eix, a well known character about town had a well laid plan to eat chicken pot pie for dinner today, but the fates went against him and he dined with Sheriff Melching in stead. Last night Officer Pat Murphy saw Eix coming out of an alley with both arms loaded down with chickens and it dawned upon him that somebody's hen roost had proved too much of a temptation for the man. The officer did not arrest him but awaited developments. Not long afterwards it was learned that Eix got the chickens at the premises of Mrs. Reynolds, 78 East Wayne street. A visit to the home of Eix, on Washington boulevard, brought to light the missing fowls, which were identified by Miss Tait, who makes her home with Mrs. Reynolds. Eix was arrested and arraigned at police court this morning. He pleaded not guilty and was bound over in the sum of $200. He went to jail.

CHARGED WITH LARCENY.

Robert Van Court was arrested late last night on the charge of stealing a bicycle from the store of Alfred Wessell, on Broadway. It was shown by the evidence at his preliminary hearing this morning that he pawned the wheel at Shuman's second hand store. He pleaded not guilty and was bound over in the sum of $300. He could not furnish bond and went to jail.
